Notes to the Translated Version of Financial Statements
Year ended 31 March 2024

1 Basis of preparation

These Translated version of financial statements have been prepared from the financial statements audited by other auditor (PWC - FY22, PKF Arsilon - FY23 & FY24) to comply with ICDR regulations for the purpose of the proposed Indian Public Offer (IPO) of the Holding company Aequs Limited (formerly known as Aequs Private Limited)

The material accounting policies disclosed in the audited financial statements by the other auditors are replicated below.

2 General rules

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the French Commercial Code (articles L123-12 to L123-28), ANC regulation no. 2014-03 of 5 June 2014, amended by ANC regulation no. 2015-06 of 23 November 2015, and the various supplementary regulations in force at the date of preparation of the financial statements, and the regulations of the French Accounting Regulations Committee (Comité de la Règlementation Comptable - CRC).

The accounting policies have been applied fairly, in accordance with the principle of prudence and the assumptions:
- going concern,
- consistency of accounting methods from one year to the next,
- independence of exercises.

and in accordance with the general rules governing the preparation and presentation of annual financial statements. The basic method used to value items recorded in the accounts is the historical cost method.

Only significant information is given. Unless otherwise stated, amounts are expressed in Euros.

3 Tangible and Intangible fixed assets

Tangible and intangible fixed assets are valued acquisition cost in the case of assets acquired for valuable consideration, at production cost in the case of assets produced by the company, and at market value in the case of assets acquired free of charge or in exchange.

Transfer taxes, fees, commissions and legal costs associated with the acquisition are included in the acquisition cost.

Depreciation

Depreciation is calculated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the asset.

For simplicity's sake, the depreciation period used is the useful life for assets that cannot be broken down at the outset.

At the balance sheet date, the company assesses whether there is any indication that the asset may be impaired, based on internal and external information available to it. Where there is an indication of , an impairment test is performed, the net book value of the fixed asset is compared with its current value.

If the present value of a fixed asset falls below its net book value, the latter, if the asset continues to be used, is written down to its present value. However, where the present value is not considered to be significantly lower than the net book value, the latter is maintained in the balance sheet. Recognition of an impairment loss changes the depreciable amount of the impaired asset on a prospective basis.

4 Investments in subsidiaries and affiliates and other long-term investments

Equity interests and other long-term investments

Equity interests are valued at acquisition cost, excluding incidental expenses.

A special depreciation charge is recorded to take account of the amortisation of these ancillary costs.

The net asset value the shares corresponds to the value in use for the company. It is determined on the basis the subsidiary's net assets, profitability and future prospects. When the book value is less than the acquisition cost, an impairment loss is recognised for the amount of the difference.

Loans to subsidiaries and affiliates

Related receivables are valued at their nominal value and may be written down, in line with the analysis carried out on investments, to take account of the risks of non-recovery to which they are likely to give rise based on information known at the balance sheet date.

Other long-term investments

Other financial assets are valued at their nominal value.

MANIAN & RAO Bangalore Chartered Accountants

5 Receivables

Receivables are valued at their nominal value.

Where appropriate, a provision is made to write down receivables to take account of any collection difficulties to which they may give rise.

6 Translation differences on receivables and payables denominated in foreign currencies

Foreign currency receivables and payables are translated at the year-end exchange rate.

The resulting exchange differences are recorded in currency translation adjustment asset or liability account. A provision for exchange losses is recorded against translation differences if there is no hedging instrument to cover the unrealised losses.

6 Provisions

Any present obligation to a third party arising from a past event, which can be estimated with sufficient reliability and which covers identified risks, is recognised as a provision.

7 Debt issuance costs

Loan issue costs are recognised immediately in expenses for the year

8 Extraordinary income and expenses

Extraordinary income and expenses include items that are not related to the normal activities of the company.
